Educational services for young children with special needs

Educational services for young children with special needs

Children who do not develop as expected or children whose behaviour gives cause for concern receive support in their development. Parents or other important caregivers will receive advice, guidance and support in the education and bringing up of the child.

The services we provide

- assessment of the developmental psychological situation
- support for the child on a one-to-one basis or in a small group either at the parents' house or as an outpatient
- advice and guidance to parents on developmental and educational issues either on an individual basis or in a group
- counselling and coaching for play group leaders, employees of day care nurseries and other experts
- prevention services like the project schritt:weise (www.a-primo.ch) or neonatology

For whom

Children from 0 to 4 years who need support (including assistance during the first term of nursery school) for the following reasons:

- developmental delay,
- threat to their development,
- disability,
- behavioural problems,
- difficult family situation.

Who can organise an appointment

- parents, legal guardian
- experts with the permission of the parents

Costs

Parents do not have to pay for the educational services for young children with special needs. The canton finances the service.
